AUDIONET founder Thomas Gessler himself took the honours at the most coveted award show for major brands and branding in Europe's leading industrial nation, accompanied by brand director Jan Geschke.

Celebrations with food and wine are currently under way in the German Capital, we're especially proud to have been chosen amongst the best and greatest brands in the world as a textbook example of excellent communications throughout all channels.

Science works! as we're used to saying.

We promise to stay the course, with more fabulous machines, more beautiful ads and digital stuff and even our very own book just around the corner.
